EXHIBITION CLOSSES . . . BUT LIVES ON

The 2007 Embracing Our Differences – Long Island exhibition has officially closed in Heckscher Park. We thank everyone who has made this show possible and has helped further the dialogue on peaceful coexistence and active rejection of prejudice.

Many have asked what will happen to the beautiful artwork. We have welcomed every suggestion that would extend the impact this exhibition has on the community. As a result, several of the pieces went on display in Northport Village Park for the month of November, and others will soon be on display in the Commack Middle School, Syosset High School, and Sayville schools. Other venues are also in the works. The entire exhibition will be on display on the Selden Campus of Suffolk County Community College from April 3 – 18.

As this exhibition closes we have begun work on Embracing Our Differences 2008. The art committee has had its first meeting and arrangements are underway to begin the art competition and the solicitation to artists. Frank Petrone, Supervisor of the Town of Huntington, has agreed to again host the exhibit in Heckscher Park, downtown Huntington. The exhibit will be there from October 16 – 29. Arrangements are being made for a host site in Nassau County as well, with follow-up exhibits at locations throughout Long Island.

Please watch for the call to artists and information on educational programs. ~ Steve Schrier

The 2008 Embracing Our Differences calendar, including all of the artwork from the exhibition, is available for purchase for $10. Contact us to submit your order.
