CALL TO ARTISTS 2008

The formal call to artists for the 2008 Embracing Our Differences art competition is now available for distribution. You can view and download the brochure from our website, <http://www.chdhu.org/eod/artist.pdf>. Please forward this to student and professional artists.

We are very excited to announce that we have an additional partner, the Nassau County Museum of Art. This year the exhibit will open on their grounds from September 26 through October 13. Then it will move to the Town of Huntington's Heckscher Park where it will be on display from October 17 -29. School groups are encouraged to plan their museum visits during this period and take advantage of the outdoor exhibit as well.

Sponsorships make it possible to offer this event and make strides in building a better community. It is a great opportunity for donors to visibly express and further community values.

The 2007 EOD exhibition continues to be on display at various locations. Selected pieces are currently being shown in the Village of Northport Park, Syosset High School and Commack Middle School. As for the latter, they will be hosting a reception for artists from the school district on March 4 at 3 pm. St. Hugh's Church in Huntington recently hosted one of the pieces, and one will be on display at Mount School (Three Village) in May. The full exhibit will be on display on the plaza on the Selden Campus of S.C.C.C. from April 3 – 18. Visits are encouraged.
