CALL TO PARTNERS 2008

We again invite educational institutions, houses of worship, museums, businesses, service and membership organizations, cultural and professional groups, government and libraries to partner with us for Embracing Our Differences Month in offering programming designed to reduce prejudice and promote cultural acceptance. Last year, over three dozen events were scheduled throughout Long Island that helped to reinforce the message of the Embracing Our Differences art exhibition. The 2008 Exhibition will take place from September 26 to October 13 at the Nassau County Museum of Art, and from October 17 to the 29th at Heckscher Park in Huntington. Events and programming scheduled during the period mid-September to early November will be included in our materials and media releases. Partners registering with us can also indicate that the event is part of the Embracing Our Differences project. In this way we can each further our respective missions and have a greater impact on the public.

Banners from our 2007 exhibition are available for display at your event. The 2008 banners will be available after November 1. Please contact us for further information.

Please share this newsletter with interested groups and let us know by return e-mail of your interest in becoming a partner.

Save the Date: October 2 at 4 pm at the Nassau County of Museum of Art for an opening ceremony.
